BEAUTIFUL NEW S. S. BUILDING OF FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Description By Miss Meta Beall—All The Many Advantageous Points Explained The Seating Capacity Is 1400—The Equipment Complete In Every Way.

The new Sunday school building of the First Presbyterian church was used Tuesday night for the first time, being the place chosen for the Reunion Reception. This building is one of the most noted architectural additions to the city for many years and we are glad to be able to present, in description of it, the following article prepared for several leading Presbyterian papers by Miss Meta Beall.

The last would-be complete Sunday-school building is the one just erected by the First Presbyterian church, of Greensboro, N. C., under the pastoral leadership of Dr. Egbert W. Smith, author of The Creed of Presbyterians, and in large part also of the interior plan of this Sunday school. The plan seeks to combine the best attainments of modern Sunday school architecture with original features of its own.

And, by the way, the name Sunday school, to designate this familiar department of church work, Dr. Smith objects to. He says it ought to be called Bible school, that the distinctive thing about it is not the day it meets, but the book it studies, and that not till it is known and thought of as the Bible school will it have its rightful prominence and congregational breadth of membership.

The new building reproduces the Romanesque architecture of the church. Connected by an ornamental cloister-way forty feet long the two look like twin sisters, and together form an imposing and harmonious whole. The distance apart prevents one building from shadowing the windows of the other, while through the cloister on wet or snowy Sundays the inmates of one at the close of its services can pass to the succeeding services of the other without exposure to the weather.

The purpose of the new building is threefold: To provide the most perfect possible facilities for the study of the Bible by the whole congregation, young and old, to serve as a nursery and training school of their spiritual life and activities; and to minister, as far as may advance the above chief ends, to the social and intellectual needs of the congregation. There are nearly forty apartments in the building and its total cost, complete and furnished throughout, is about thirty thousand dollars.

The Sunday-school room proper is on the semi-circular plan, the outer walls running parallel for twenty-two feet after completing a half circle of thirty-nine radius. The main auditorium on the first floor seats about 250 exclusive of the large rostrum. Opening into the auditorium and shut off from it by curtains running by wheeled brass rings on a brass rod, are twelve class-rooms. Of these the primary class room on the right of the rostrum seats 180 children, the outer wall being set back eighteen feet to increase its capacity; the kindergarten room one the left of the rostrum seats seventy-five; and the other ten class rooms seat twenty or twenty-five each.

The two departments, primary and kindergarten, are shut off from the main auditorium not only by curtains, but also by a recently invented style of folding doors running on ball bearings overhead, whose working is a marvel of ease and smoothness.

All the partitions between the first floor rooms are on the radii of a circle, whose center is the speaker's stand on the rostrum. When, therefore, the curtains and folding doors are drawn back the inmates of all the twelve class rooms are given equal and easy view of the superintendent. The whole first floor can thus be transformed into an admirable auditorium for mass meeting purposes with a capacity of nearly 700. When only the inner semi-circle of 250 capacity is to be used for church prayer meetings or the like, a small platform one foot high on rollers is drawn out from the base of the rostrum.

The unique and original feature of this building is the arrangement of the upper class rooms. Looking up from the rostrum of nine feet, rising steeply tier on tier as in a theatre, seated with opera chairs, every one of which commands an excellent view of the rostrum. Around the lower front part of the gallery runs a walkway three feet wide. Under and behind the gallery are fifteen class-rooms, each entered from the walkway by going down four steps through an opening in the gallery tiers. The two-foot-wide doorway into each room is closed by a sliding curtain instead of a door, to prevent possible slamming of the latter. At one end of the walkway, but not under the gallery, is another room, making sixteen upper-rooms in all. The two of these that are situated over the primary room seat sixty-five each, and can be thrown together if desired. The fourteen other upper rooms vary in seating capacity from fifteen to thirty. When the whole school worships together the upper room classes occupy the lower front opera chairs of the gallery, from which at the tap of the bell half a dozen steps take each class into its own apartment.

This arrangement of class rooms and gallery has two advantages. First, it makes the upper class rooms the best in the school, because the most completely secluded by their construction and position from all noises. Second, it doubles the value of the building as an auditorium for preaching, concerts, lectures, mass meetings of all kinds, by adding to it a gallery capacity of over 600 raising the total capacity of the building to not far from 1,400. It should be added that each end of the gallery walkway is connected by a narrow descending stairway with the rostrum, thus enabling the Sunday-school officers to reach the upper class rooms almost as easily as the lower. Every class room both above and below, even the smallest, has a large double window opening directly on the outer air, and the building is so situated that nearly every room at some hour of the day is flooded with sunshine. The larger rooms have from two to five windows each.

All rooms are equipped with cabinet maps and blackboards, and with electric bells wire to a button on the superintendent's desk. Electric arrangements are also provided for stereopticon exhibitions. All rooms have picture moulding on the walls as an encouragement to each class to adorn its class home in its own way.

The building has four entrances, one on the north, one on the south, and two on the west. It is heated by steam, lighted by gas and electricity, and ventilated according to scientific sanitary methods, the foul air being withdrawn through a large vent stack by an artificially produced air current.

Stained glass of rich and delicate design is used throughout. When the curtains and folding doors are thrown back and the room converted into one great auditorium the light and color effect is strikingly beautiful. In addition to the seventeen Romanesque double windows below there are sixteen circular windows of forty-two inches diameter in the upper part above the gallery tiers, while from the center overhead there falls a glory of softly tinted light through a great rose window nine feet in diameter. Except this last, all the windows in the building are hinged or pivoted to admit air as well as light when desired, and all the upper room windows have movable transoms in addition. Moreover, on hot summer days, or when the house is warmly packed at night, the opening of the windows of the sixteen upper class rooms converts the doorway of each into a great fresh air inlet whose current strikes directly upon no one in the audience.

One word as to other features of the building.

The main west entrance leads into a reception hall, to the right of which are two library and reading rooms kept open until ten p. m. every week day, while on the left is the ladies' parlor for missionary and other society meetings, with seating capacity of over one hundred. These rooms are connected by sliding doors, and can be thrown into one for receptions.

In the basement, which is one-half above ground and well lighted and ventilated, is a large room 30x92 feet, with complete kitchen attachment and visible at will into two rooms intended for class banquets, missionary and congregational societies, children's festivals and Christmas trees, a gymnasium and other purposes. It has three entrances, two from the halls above and one directly from the outside.

The pastor's study is on the second floor, and a climb to the top of the tower bring one to a small roof-garden whence a beautiful and extended view of the city and surrounding country may be obtained.

The influence of such a building as this is incalculable. Through coming generations it will promote in the most effective way the highest interests of the congregation and community, and above all it will serve as an impressive reminder to the church at large that, in this day of universal educational revival and advance, the church of Christ, to maintain and make manifest among men the primacy of the moral and spiritual, must devise as liberal things for her Bible school as other agencies are doing for secular education.

It is a fitting tribute that this beautiful building is a memorial to Dr. J. Henry Smith, father of the present pastor, who for nearly forty years was the beloved pastor of this church.

THE FIRE WORKS

Were Ordered Under Contract And They Will Not be Received

A large number of the citizens of this city were under the impression yesterday that the Fireworks Committee would have on their hands the fire works which did not arrive for the Reunion. If they had been ordered and no specified time named as to the time they should have reached here, this would have been the case, but fortunately they were ordered under contract. The fire works were shipped last Thursday by Daniel S. Dengler & Son, of Philadelphia, and the contract was that the goods should be here by Tuesday night and that the above named firm should have a man here to take charge of them. The man who was to take charge of the fireworks arrived here Monday morning and remained until Tuesday night when he returned to Philadelphia. Mr. Charles H. Ireland, chairman of the committee who ordered the fireworks said yesterday that the fireworks not reaching here was certainly no fault of the Southern Railway. He said the officials and especially Superintendent Coapman had done everything in their power to find the goods and to get them here. Mr. Coapman had an operator to call up every station on his division north of here in an attempt to locate the missing goods. Mr. Ireland said he believed the fault was with the Pennsylvania road. The regular time allowed for goods to reach here from Philadelphia is four days.

THIEF ARRESTED

Was Trying to Take Diamond Pin at Fair Ground

A white man, who claimed to be from Charleston and gave Mason as his name, was arrested at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon for attempting to steal a diamond pin from Mr. Duke's box, a young man from Winston.

Mr. J. M. Simpson, who is one of the witnesses in the case, says that he was watching one of the races and heard some one say in great excitement, "Look, look." He didn't see the cause for such great excitement. So he looked to see who spoke. He saw a man behind the young man with the pin. The man had his arms on the young man's shoulder and was in the act of taking the pin. Mr. Simpson warned the young man. Mason said he guessed he was mistaken. Mr. Simpson said he knew he wasn't. Mason then tried to turn it off by saying the pin had fallen on the ground. It was picked up from where he dropped it. The owner of the pin was so indignant that he struck Mason in the face.

Mason was arrested and Chief Fair Policeman George Crutchfield brought him down town where he was locked up. He will be tried this afternoon at 5 o'clock by Squire Wolfe.

The Federal Court.

The most important case to be tried at this term of federal court was heard yesterday. It was a case against J. H. Sprinkle, of Forsyth county, for defrauding the government out of tax. Sprinkle is said to be one of the best known men in his section and owns a large government distillery. The case was a hard fought one, but the jury after being out several hours brought in a verdict of guilty. Judge Boyd has not sentenced Sprinkle yet. Mr. R. B. Glenn, of Winston, was Sprinkle's attorney. Yesterday was the first day this week any jury trials have been heard.

Judge Boyd dismissed the jury on last Saturday afternoon until yesterday. Monday and Tuesday were devoted to the motion docket.

Ernest Haywood Acquitted.

There was great interest here yesterday in the outcome of the Haywood trial in Raleigh. The news that he was acquitted created some surprise. There was surprise also that a verdict was reached so soon—the jury was out only a few minutes. It was thought that the case would present more difficulties to the jury than were indicated by the length of time they took in reaching a conclusion.

Mr. Jack Ragsdale, of Madison, was here yesterday to attend the fair.

THE FAIR A GREAT SUCCESS

MORE THAN TEN THOUSAND PEOPLE ON THE GROUNDS YESTERDAY

A Large Number of Prizes Were Awarded Yesterday—Crowd Today is Expected to Be the Largest Ever Here—A Special Train to be Run Here Today From Sanford.

All who attended the Central Carolina Fair yesterday said at least ten thousand people were on the grounds. It was without a doubt the largest crowd which has ever attended this fair. People were here from all over the state and thousands were here from this immediate section of the state. As was previously announced the train going to Madison was held here until last night to accommodate the crowd. An excursion from Sanford brought a large number of people to the city many of them coming from below Sanford and from Fayetteville.

The crowd at the Southern Railway station last night after the last train arrived from the fair grounds was enormous.

A High Point gentleman said yesterday it seemed to him like everybody in his town was here attending the fair.

Today is considered by the public as the big day of the fair and an enormous crowd is expected. All who have attended the fair say the exhibits are fine and they do not hesitate to say that they are the largest and best ever seen here. When the visitors speak of the exhibits they generally say, "It is a fine fair and I never saw as many chickens in my life." Unless they have attended poultry shows outside of the southern states, this remark is true, for this is said to be the largest poultry exhibit ever made in the south, there being 2225 entries.

The live stock exhibits are also fine. The capacity for the live stock exhibit has been enlarged since last year, but the buildings are still too small to accommodate all exhibitors.

There are several entries of cattle from Illinois. The agricultural exhibits are very good and so are the different exhibits made by the business firms of this city.

The racing was very good yesterday, and as was predicted the 2:22 trot, was hotly contested, and at the end of the fifth heat no horse had won. The race was postponed until today and will be finished this afternoon. It will be hotly contested. Queen Bess won the first and fourth heats yesterday, but a protest was entered as it is against the rules for two horses to be entered in a race from the same stable. Kate Campbell was in the race and she and Queen Bess are from the same stable. The 2:30 trot for a $300 purse was won by Dan E. The following is the manner in which the horses won the different heats:

Minnine J 4-5-6-5.
Dan E.—1-1-1.
Jim C.—5-4-2.
Amlene—2-2-2.
George H.—3-3-4.

The 2:22 trot which was not finished yesterday will take place today. The next race will be the 2:27 pace with the following entries, Palmediam, Peter Wallock, Schnapps, Jewel, Golden Thorn, Big John, and Mary M. 2:17 pace, with the following entries: The Spaniard, Honest Joe, Madam Jordie, Branch, and Mary M.

Free for all, Lewis Purcell, Walter S. O. M. C., Honest Joe and Little Pell.

The races will be called at 1:30 and will begin promptly at 2 o'clock. Those who attend the fair today may expect to see some fine racing and the 2:20 trot for Friday will also be fine. The horsemen say it is hard to tell which will be the best race the 2:22 trot today or the 2:20 trot tomorrow. Prizes were awarded to several exhibitors yesterday.

Mr. John A. Young won the premium for the finest herd of Jerseys. He has the largest herd of registered Jerseys at the fair.

Mr. Thos. O'Conner won the premium for the finest herd of Holstein.

Mr. French, of Rockingham county, won the premium on his herd of black Angus cattle.

Mr. Lewis W. Post, who has recently moved here from Illinois won a prize on a Jersey heifer shipped here from Illinois. Other prizes were rewarded and will be announced later.

Money Stolen

Mr. Lewis Thomas, of Thomasville, was relieved of $37 by a pickpocket yesterday afternoon while returning from the Fair Ground. When he left the Fair Ground, he had his money in an inside vest pocket and his vest was buttoned. The pickpocket unbuttoned the vest with the exception of one or two buttons.

REUNION FOR 1904

Will be Held Here Under Auspices of Reunion Association

It has been the intention of the promoters of the present reunion to make the event a state affair and to hold a Reunion each year. Now that the first Reunion is over and proved such a wonderful success the board of managers have decided to take steps at once towards carrying out their plans. The board of managers met at the Benbow hotel last night and passed the following resolutions:

Whereas, it was planned in the original conception of the North Carolina Reunion that the same should be made permanent and that there should be an annual Reunion at such time and place as the North Carolina Reunion Association company might from year to year determine and whereas it has been strongly urged by the non-residents attending the North Carolina Reunion this year at Greensboro, N. C., and also by letters from numerous non-residents who were unable to be present that the organization known and chartered as the North Carolina Reunion Association Company should be completed and that the necessary step should be taken at once for a permanent annual Reunion to be held at Greensboro, N. C., and whereas it has been further urged by visiting non-residents that Greensboro is the most central and accessible point both for the non-resident and the resident and that after each annual reunion special excursion rates may be obtained each year for the various points in the state and whereas new and other additional features have been suggested and urged to make each succeeding Reunion more pleasant and more successful.

Therefore, Be it resolved, by the Board of Managers of the North Carolina Reunion Association Company, that there shall be held at Greensboro, N. C., in 1904 another reunion under the auspices of the North Carolina Reunion Association Company and annually thereafter, and that special or excursion rates be arranged for the remainder of the week by which visiting non-residents will be enabled to visit the various points in the state and that the whole of said week shall hereafter be known as the North Carolina Old Home Week, for all non-resident North Carolinians.

That it is the purpose of the present management to make this annual Reunion a state affair and to this end every resident of the state is cordially invited to join in this patriotic effort by becoming a stockholder in the said North Carolina Reunion Association Company.

CHARLES D. McIVER, Chairman;
ROBERT R. KING, J. W. FRY, J. A. ODELL, CEASAR CONE, GEO. S. BRADSHAW, Board of Managers.

"Polly Primrose" Last Night.

The largest and most fashionable audience of the season greeted Miss Adelaide Thurston at the Grand last night, in her new play, "Polly Primrose." Winsome, pretty and graceful, Miss Thurston is a most charming little actress, and her engagement here last night was decidedly the hit of the season. She completely captivated her audience by her quaint little ways.

Her support was exceedingly strong particularly "Carlisle" and "Mr. Primrose" who were especially well fitted for their parts.

Miss Thurston is always a favorite in Greensboro and the audience which greeted her last night is a good sign of her popularity here.

Her play is a good one and her company are without a weak point. She deserves a packed house every night.

Yesterdays Land Sale.

At the land sale by the Southern Loan and Trust Company on Davie street yesterday two lots were sold the sale of other lots being postponed. Mr. S. L. Gilmer bought a lot with 25 feet frontage at $61 per front foot. Mr. Phipps of the Greensboro Hardware Company, bought the lot corner of Washington and Davie at $85 per front foot. He bid this off as the representative of a land company with which he is connected. There were fifty front feet in the lot. It is expected that this street will be rapidly developed. Many inquiries have come to the Southern Loan and Trust Company about it, some of them from outside the state.

The fire works for the reunion got lost on the road but fire enough was kindled in every Carolinian's heart.—Charlotte News.

It just does one good to come in contact with the Greensboro variety of hustle.—Concord Tribune.

WOMAN MAY SUE PLATT

Miss Mae C. Wood Hurries to New York.

New York, Oct. 13.—Miss Mae C. Wood, a clerk in the money order department of the postoffice department at Washington, with her lawyer from Washington, has arrived in this city for the purpose, it is said, of bringing suit against United States Senator Thomas C. Platt for alleged breach of promise to marry.

Extraordinary precautions are being taken to guard the persons of Senator Platt and Mrs. Lillia T. Janeway, who are to be married on Thursday. Six private detectives are in constant attendance upon the aged republican leader and others guard Mrs. Janeway at every moment.

Miss Wood arrived by an early morning train, and both Senator Platt and Mrs. Janeway are endeavoring in every way to avoid encountering her.

This is Miss Wood's second visit to this city since the announcement of the Senator's approaching marriage. Last week she appeared suddenly at the Fifth Avenue Hotel and demanded admittance to Senator Platt's apartments. This was denied her, and she returned to Washington after giving vent to vehement remarks. The establishment of a detective service dates from that time.

Miss Wood is several years the junior of Mrs. Janeway. She is considered extremely attractive.

Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Kodol digests what you eat—makes the stomach sweet. Sold by Howard Gardner.

SILENT PRAYER IN ZION

Impressive Spectacle in Preparation for Trip.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—As the bell of Zion Temple tolled at noon today 5,000 followers of John Alexander Dowie knelt wherever they chanced to be in quiet Zion City and offered prayers for the success of the mission of the restoration host in New York city.

High in the hazy October sky was a big balloon. From it a photographer trained his camera on the town below and caught a picture of the suppliant thousands and their pretty homes.

During two minutes of silent prayer Zion City was mute and motionless. The pilgrims, who had been loading hundreds of trunks, valises and household effects all day upon a waiting train, dropped to their knees and asked for the peace and blessing which they in turn intend to offer to the people of New York.

After the hush came work again. Trunks were heaved into cars, cooking outfits were put aboard and grips were piled high, until a train of eight coaches was full. Then they rolled away toward New York.

All day long recruits poured into Zion City to join the caravan to the east, which will start today. They came from as far West as California.

Brides

Are always "beautiful" and always "happy" according to the society reporters, and in this case the report is mostly true. There may be unhappy brides in fiction, but there are few in real life. But how hard it is to look upon many of the wives we know, and believe that they were once beautiful and happy. Pain, the result of womanly disease, has marred beauty and undermined happiness.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"I have thought for some time I would write you and tell you of the great improvement in my health since taking your 'Favorite Prescription,'" says Mrs. H. S. Jones, of Fond, N. C. "When I began its use I was a physical wreck and had despaired of ever having any health again. I could not walk one quarter of a mile. I noted a great improvement in my health before the first bottle was used. Was suffering with almost every pain that a woman is subject to: had inflammation of ovaries, painful and suppressed periods, and other symptoms of 'Favorite Prescription.' I felt like a new person. Can ride horseback and take all kinds of exercise and am not tired."

GARDNER'S

AT THE GRAND

BOSTON IDEAL OPERA CO. In Tune! "Said Pasha" Tonight. The Boston Ideal Opera Co. with its thirty merrymakers will begin a two nights engagement at the Grand tonight, presenting "Said Pasha" a bill all comedy and music. This organization is no stranger to us and that it is as good as ever we copy the following from Twin City Sentinel:

The Boston Ideal Opera Company must be highly pleased with the crowd that it has been drawing here all the week. It has had a large audience at every performance, and last night was no exception. The company deserves the success it has scored in Winston-Salem, however, for it is made up of clever people and they never fail to "make good."

"Martha" was finely put on last night at the Auditorium and was fully enjoyed. All of the favorites came in for hearty applause.

Seats are now on sale. Popular prices 75, 50 and 25 cents. MARIE WAINWRIGHT SATURDAY NIGHT. Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," magnificently staged, splendidly cast and superbly costumed, will be presented at the Grand by Miss Marie Wainwright and her own company on next Saturday night. Miss Wainwright, for years, identified with Shakespearean heroines, has played them all; Ophelia, Desdemona, Juliet, Lady Macbeth, Rosalind, Cordelia, Portia, all of them, and her successes in these characters were achieved in the company of the greatest of our modern actors. Her part, however, and the one she has invested with breathing life, is Viola in "Twelfth Night."

A Show That Will Interest All

The Bostock show at the Fair ground is one that all will be interested in. They always give a high class animal show managed by trainers noted in the art. For instance Miss Ora Cecil who handles the Leopard's and Jaguars is a modest young woman of twenty and insists on entering the ring with these beasts without a revolver that no man would think of and handling them by her kind ways. She is a millionaire and there is an animal hospital in one of our largest cities endowed by her though few know it. Prof. H. H. H. the Abyssinian Hyenas, Siberian, Russian, Canadian and North American wolves, grizzly bears and Himalay slouth while his acts are daring and exciting he is more cruel and does not exhibit the tact in handling these wild beasts as Miss Cecil does. The Assyrian snake charmer is an artist in her line giving more interest one than that of wrapping herself in snakes. Many of her specimens are enormous reptiles. The trained lions are active and interesting and probably is the most laborious to the trainers of the acts. There are no people in the country that carry as difficult and dangerous wild animals to train as the Bostocks. The seats are comfortable the tent clean and roomy. It is highly an educational show and Mr. Sanders and his wife are managers of the show and spare no pains to interest and please.

Keeping Pace.

To keep pace with our achieving in other lines of business, apparent to every one and especially to those who after long absence now honor us with their presence, the Southern Loan and Trust Company of Greensboro, N. C., with capital and surplus of over $210,000 has lately organized an old line life insurance department.

The "Trust Bonds" issued by this company furnish every desirable feature of modern life insurance, and are sold at "Protection Rates," that is, rates sufficient to support the contracts and defray legitimate expenses, but stripped of all loading from which to estimate Dividends, Bonuses, Surplus Accumulations, Distribution Funds and other such vague quantities.

Send your name, address and age to the company's home office for particulars of a policy on your life.

Lost Large Sum of Money.

A man by the name of Fish who runs a chance game at the fair grounds was arrested yesterday at the instigation of Mr. W. A. Hennessee, upon the charge of getting a large sum of money from him. The man's friends said Mr. Hennessee got hold of the wrong man, but they agreed to pay him the amount of money he lost and also the cost in the case provided he (Hennessee) would withdraw the warrant. This agreement was satisfactory to Mr. Hennessee and the affair was quickly adjusted, Mr. G. S. Bradshaw was Fish's attorney.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The Southern Railway announces that on October 19 the office of general superintendent of the Western district will be removed from Chattanooga, Tenn., to Birmingham, Ala.
